OrganoClick Initiates Contact With The Japanese Market

OrganoClick's scientific co-founders, Jonas Hafrén (3rd from right) and Armando Córdova (1st from right) together with the organizing committee.

Japan, 4 May 2008 – As one of the few selected companies, OrganoClick presented itself at a clean-tech seminar, held in Tokyo on the 18th of April. The seminar, which was organized by the Swedish embassy in Japan and Invest in Sweden Agency, attracted a number of attendants including Japanese investors and representatives from Japanese industries.

OrganoClick's scientific co-founders, Armando Córdova and Jonas Hafrén took part in the seminar and presented OrganoClick's products and technologies. The trip also included a number of visits to Japanese companies, mainly within the paper and packaging segment.
